

SILICA SAFETY COMMITMENT

Cambria is committed to ensuring the safety and health of its employees and raising awareness in the industry about an important safety and health issue: respirable crystalline silica dust. No worker, in any segment of the industry, should ever be exposed to dangerous levels of respirable crystalline silica in the workplace.

Therefore, as a business owner and fellow-employer in the stone industry, we ask that you also express your commitment to the health and safety of all workers in the stone industry by reviewing, acknowledging, and committing as follows:

The Business Partner acknowledges that:

- They have received, read, and understood the SILICA SAFETY NOTICE provided by Cambria regarding the risks of respirable crystalline silica;
- They have received, read, and understood the CAMBRIA SLAB SAFETY LABEL provided by Cambria;
- They agree to comply with all local laws and regulations pertaining to occupational health and safety, including OSHA's Crystalline Silica Standard;
- They agree that although Cambria may provide information and recommendations related to safety and health, in no circumstance is Cambria responsible for providing legal or safety advice and they agree to obtain advice direct from the relevant local agencies (e.g., OSHA) and safety professionals as needed to implement safety measures required to meet regulatory requirements;
- They understand that required safety measures are dependent on the specific conditions of the workplace;
- They acknowledge that they are responsible for informing workers about safety and health issues and for assuring that the workplace complies will all applicable regulations;
- They will ensure that their employees will follow safety and health requirements and will have access to all necessary Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) as needed for their job; and
- They will also ensure that their own suppliers and subcontractors comply with the same requirements.
